HE GOES TO WASHINGTON TO REPRESENT THE PLANTERS

The Former Consul General and Collector of Internal Revenue William Haywood Sails Today.

William Haywood Who Goes To Washington.

WILLIAM HAYWOOD will leave for Washington today on the Zealandia to take up his duties as representative of the Hawaiian Planters' Association. With him will go his wife, two children, and all the family's personal effects, including an old colored "mammy" who has cared for the young Haywoods from their infancy.

Since Mr. Haywood's return to Honolulu from a brief trip to San Francisco, he has been full of farewells and household affairs. He said last night that he would leave Hawaii with deep regret. Several years here have given him a love for the islands which he fears will cause him many a heartache in the future.

As soon as he arrives in Washington Mr. Haywood will plan his campaign for the good of Hawaii. It will be his endeavor, besides serving the planters, to make known as widely as possible the rare attractions of this country for investment and pleasure, and with his diplomatic ability and broad acquaintance with the facts of Hawaii, the Territory may look for paying results.

Mr. Haywood was given a farewell "reception" in the internal revenue office by his associates at noon yesterday. Mr. Haywood had been invited to be at the office at 11:45 yesterday morning. It was understood that there was business of considerable importance for him to attend to. He was there on time, and when he had made himself comfortable, Mr. Hasson, the deputy collector, made his appearance with a very neatly prepared scroll which he presented to Mr. Haywood on behalf of the office. It was a farewell address from the members of the revenue force to the former collector.

CONCRETE FLOORS TESTED.

Withstood the Strain of a Falling Barrel of Cement.

The concrete floors which are being put in in the Stangenwald building by the Concrete Construction Company, underwent a singular and unexpected test yesterday morning.

Through an accident, a workman dropped a barrel of cement from the fifth floor to the first floor, a distance of fifty-three feet. The barrel, weighing about 400 pounds, struck in the center of a panel of the floor, or that portion of the floor between two of the steel beams. That the barrel did not pass through the floor was the occasion of some comment.

The floor is constructed of concrete with expanded steel in the bottom portion. The floor slab is but three and a half inches in thickness, yet, despite the heaviness of the barrel of cement, and the fact that it fell fifty-three feet, the floor withstood the strain.

CHINESE AROUSED.

Naturalized Celestials Will Fight for Citizenship.

In the hall of the Chinese United Society, night before last, the naturalized Chinese of the city met for the second time with Wong Kwai in the chair. The meeting was a representative one, and after considerable discussion it was decided that the society should retain an attorney or attorneys to fight the recent decision with reference to the citizenship matter, as transmitted by the Secretary of the Treasury. The following were selected to choose an attorney and to do whatever work should arise in connection with the matter: T. Kat Poo, Wong Leong, Wong Chee and C. Winam. The secretary, to assist the committee, is C. Din Sing.

PUNAHOU FOOTBALL.

Freshmen and Preparatory Classes Play a Tie Game.

Yesterday's football game between the Freshman and Preparatory teams of Oahu College on the college campus was a spirited contest ending in a tie with the score 11-11. The game was good from start to finish and several fine plays were made in which G. K. Judd, Oliver Lansing and R. Johnston, for the Freshmen, and Will Myers, W. Rycroft, F. Waller and Richard Ahrens for the Preparatory, shone.

Johnston made the two touchdowns for the Freshmen, kicked one goal but missed a second. Oliver Lansing did yeoman service for his team and saved the game from going into the keeping of the Preparatory by a pretty tackle on Rycroft, who had a clear field and was making a splendid run for goal. Had the touchdown been made the score would have stood 15-11 in favor of the Preparatory. On the other hand, Walker, for the Preparatory, blocked a kick which sent the ball into the air, and he made a touchdown but failed to kick goal.

Following is the line-up of the teams: Freshmen—Geo. Renton, c.; M. Davy, r.e.; R. Johnston, r.t.; Harold Castle, r.e.; M. Doak, l.g.; G. Kentwell, l.t.; Allison Jordan, l.e.; Oliver Lansing, q.b.; G. K. Judd, f.b.; P. Deverill, r.h.; P. Allen, l.h.

THE WORM TURNED.

Mrs. Cowbigger—While it's true that women wear men's neckties, you surely couldn't expect me to appear in public in such a monstrosity as this. Where in the world did you ever get such a tie?

Cowbigger—My dear, that's the one you bought for me last Christmas.

DEATH CAUSED BY MORPHINE

A Coroner's Jury Will Look Into Her Poisoning.

MISS CLARA SCHNEIDER died of poison. Whether she committed suicide or was the victim of an accident is yet to be proved. Territorial Chemist Shorey, to whom the stomach of the deceased was given for analysis, found traces of an alkaloid poison, presumably morphine. Today a coroner's jury will investigate the death and will try to find out where the poison came from.

Miss Schneider was found in a dying condition on Wednesday morning in the house on the C. L. Carter premises at Waikiki, at present occupied by Paul Neumann and family. She had retired the night before in apparent perfect health, and when she did not make her appearance as usual in the morning, one of the family went to the door of her room and knocked. There was no reply, and becoming alarmed the door was finally forced open.

On the bed, almost fully dressed, lay the young woman unconscious. It was supposed that she was asleep at first, but as vigorous efforts did not awaken her, a messenger was dispatched for Dr. Walters. The physician did everything possible to arouse Miss Schneider, but in vain.

She died shortly after 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. A post-mortem examination at the morgue strengthened the suspicion that she had died from opium poisoning, and the stomach was handed over to Dr. Shorey for examination. Yesterday Dr. Shorey found that the stomach fluids contained morphine.

The question now is, from whom did Miss Schneider get the deadly drug which ended her life. No druggist has a right to sell morphine except on a doctor's prescription, and a searching investigation will be made into the matter.

It is understood that every druggist in Honolulu will be subpoenaed to attend the coroner's inquest today, and will be required to produce the books of the firms to show exactly to whom any poison has been sold in the past few days.

FAREWELL TO REV. J. C. HAY

Reception In His Honor Is Given Last Night.

A farewell reception was held last night at the Christian church, Alakea street, in honor of the departing pastor, Rev. John C. Hay, who leaves today on the Zealandia for Colorado. Rev. A. E. Cory was master of ceremonies. A musical program and a delicious collation were pleasing features of the function.

Rev. Mr. Hay was presented with a beautiful album by the Young People's Society of the church in token of their appreciation of his work with the organization during his year in Honolulu. Prof. Howlands making the presentation speech. In reply to Mr. Cory's wishes for his welfare in the Rocky Mountains, where he will make his future home and field of pastoral labors, Mr. Hay feelingly referred to his pleasant stay in the islands, and he stated his appreciation of the many kindnesses extended to him and of his aloha for the congregation.

Rev. Silas Perry, Rev. George L. Pearson of the Methodist Episcopal church, Major Wood of the Salvation Army, Theodore Richards and A. F. Cooke were among the two hundred guests present. Rev. W. M. Kincaid of Central Union church sent a letter expressing his regrets in not being able to be present.

The Christmas Boat.

The Zealandia, which sails for San Francisco today at 4 o'clock in the afternoon is the boat which will carry mail and packages to the Coast in time for Christmas. The steamship will arrive at San Francisco on the 21st, and mail sent by the Zealandia, for the East, will possibly be distributed in New York and other eastern cities on Christmas Day.

A large amount of mail will leave Honolulu on the Zealandia. It will be well for senders of packages through the mail to remember that there is a limit on the weight and size of packages, as all packages have to go in the mail pouches.

THE EVERY-DAY GIRL.

She goes to church, but not a sacred thing Comes to her mind—indeed, her thoughts are shocking. For while the choristers their carols sing She thinks of what was in her Christmas stocking.

THE END OF THE MORMON JOYFUL JUBILEE FESTIVAL

Latter-Day Saints Visit Punchbowl Where Their Monument Was Erected a Half Century Ago.

THE enthusiasm of the Mormon jubilee celebration was in no wise abated yesterday, as was attested by the crowded house when the morning exercises opened at the Orpheum, according to program, at 10 o'clock, with the congregational hymn, "How Firm a Foundation." The combined choir, aggregating sixty voices, having had the benefit of the previous day's practice, was much improved and sang together with force and harmonious union. An impressive opening prayer was offered by Kamahai and the program began with the "Hallelujah Chorus" by the Lale choir.

Chas. Bush, in a few well chosen words, made an introductory speech for the visitors from Utah, a number of whom responded with short addresses expressive of their pleasure and appreciation of the hospitality with which they were being treated by the churches and people of the islands.

A sextet composed of M. K. Makekau, Chas. Broad, Clarence Kinney, Dan Kalauawa, Lima and Palili sang "The Watchman," followed by an organ solo, "Under the Double Eagle," by Mrs. Mattie Bush. Extemporaneous speeches occupied an entertaining half hour, among them that of Edmund Eldredge, who was announced by Mr. Bush as the pioneer companion of President Cannon in the early settlement of Utah.

Mr. Eldredge is a few happy words expressed his pleasure in the present occasion and said that while he came as a stranger, there were no strangers in the great fraternity of a common faith and religion. He dwelt reminiscently upon the early trials of himself and Mr. Cannon in the year 1847 in Utah, the peril of the dread Indian foe, the difficulties of ox team travel across the unexplored plains and the manifold hardships of the pioneer in religion and in the settlement of the country. He spoke also of his interest in the Hawaiian people, first aroused through meeting a number of them in Utah and subsequently through his experiences during a trip to the islands a few years later. He concluded with an earnest expression of his feeling of Christian fellowship and a blessing for the Hawaiian people.

A pretty duet, "Come, Merry Birds of Spring," by Ivy and Hattie Kekuku was followed by a soprano solo, "Beautiful Eden," Minerva Fernandez. Samuel Lua sang "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," and a few numbers of the program were omitted, as it was found that the time was growing late.

Abraham Fernandez spoke extemporaneously, his words being of a congratulatory nature. A trio, "O Restless Sea," and the anthem, "I Waited Patiently," concluded the morning exercises, the principal feature being the address by Q. Cannon, delivered partly in English and partly in the native tongue. The address of Mr. Cannon was in substance as follows:

"My brethren, I am rejoiced to meet with you today. I have rejoiced from yesterday morning until the present time. I am rejoiced and I am thankful to see so great a concourse of people gathered together to participate in a glorious work of this kind, and I am irrepressibly glad to observe the vast improvement and the great advancement in the work of God and the Church of Jesus Christ here in these beautiful islands. I would that I might speak to you fluently and as I feel, in your native tongue, but I feel that you will understand the spirit of my words, even though I cannot express myself fully in your language.

"I feel today more than ever the ties that bind the people of God together, the spirit of the Lord that makes us all love each other, irrespective of race and condition, bound together with the blessed ties of a common religion. It must be so the world over, where people come to believe in the gospel and go down into the waters of baptism to be born again, to love one another, and that, my brethren, is the great principle of divine love and religion. It is the principle we are struggling to spread abroad among the peoples of the earth. We are soon to have missionaries in Japan, and the day will soon come when we shall reach out to China and Russia and Portugal, and all the corners of the earth. We must work fast, for the second coming of Jesus is near, and it is a great labor. We want to implant in the heart of each of our converts that great desire to spread the blessed message and increase the joy and the blessings of the Church of Jesus Christ. That is our work—to establish good things upon the earth, to spread the message of the gospel of the Lord, to prepare for that great event which will be another such as that of the flood.

"Let us be ready. Let us labor. Let us struggle hard to make the people of the earth as one great family in Zion, to bring the unenlightened into the light, to baptize and teach the faith in the gospel. Let us work and look forward in joyful anticipation to that time when great peoples shall dwell together in one family, without strife or contention, perfect in love. The day is coming, but it will be the millennium, my brethren. The prophecy of the future means much labor and much love in the great work of bringing people together—the peoples of the earth—in a happy state of harmony and love, where they shall not deride one another and shall dwell in peace and universal love and all shall be filled with divine joy.

"This is God's desire. When it is done, then will be the time to cleanse the earth, to forgive sinners that are penitent. When a man commits sin and then repents, God will forgive him and he shall be saved unless he has apostatized. But if he keeps on sinning, he will continue to retrograde until he is beyond all redemption, and he shall be lost.

"Let us all endeavor to live righteously, in the beauty of a pure and faithful life. It is better for us to die than to go into sin. God promises many things to the faithful. And his promises shall be fulfilled.

"And, brethren, God is just. He will not load the people of Hawaii responsible for the sins of their fathers. If they walk in the light and lead righteous lives they shall be rewarded. With the peoples of the earth who have long been enlightened the judgment will be more strict, and if they sin they shall lose their portion.

"In conclusion I call for a blessing upon the people of Hawaii. I have not talked so much in your language for forty-six years. I believe I have not felt so keenly, in these forty-six years, the fervent love and Christian fellowship I feel for you all today. It is a great and blessed meeting. May God bless you all and keep you all in His spirit."

In the afternoon the program was resumed with anthems and songs by the choir, and an opening prayer offered by Kamahai. Adelaide Fernandez played a piano solo, and the hymn, "Beautiful Zion for Me," was sung by a mixed quartet, Ivy and Hattie Kekuku, Sam and Poi Kekauoha.

A history of the Mormon church in the islands and in Utah, from its beginning to the present time, was given by Charles Broad. This number had been on the morning program, but was omitted for lack of time. President Cannon spoke again in the afternoon, his address being in the nature of a sermon and an appeal to the faithfulness of the people to their church. The musical program, of several numbers, both vocal and instrumental, concluded at 4 o'clock with the congregational hymn, "We Thank Thee, O God, for a Prophet," by the combined choir and congregation.

At 5 o'clock, according to program there was a gathering at the foot of Punchbowl hill.

There were upwards of two hundred who climbed the hill with President Cannon and listened to his address on the summit. He pointed out to them the places of landing and where the meeting of the little missionary party was held fifty years ago; also the location of the monument erected on Pacific Heights by the party the day after the meeting on Punchbowl hill. He concluded with reminiscences of early experiences about the islands. After a hymn and prayer the people descended and dispersed at the foot of the hill.

In the evening the auditorium was again filled to witness the last entertainment of the jubilee. The Lale choir sang the opening song, "The World is Full of Beauty," and after prayer Frank Wooley and a selected quartet sang "The Mormon Boy" in solo and chorus.

The Auwalolimu Quintette followed with a comic selection, "Bo of Fare," "Hoomaumu and Hoomaumu" was given by the Hiiwai o Ka Aina Glee Club, and the stereopticon views, consisting of Utah scenes and views of Hawaii and other Pacific islands, with an occasional "comic," occupied an interesting half hour. The meeting closed with the song "Fairy Moonlight" by the Lanilulu Glee Club.

No further program has been definitely arranged, but two feasts will be given at the drill shed during the coming week, and plans for other festivities are being perfected.

AN EQUINE RUN ON BISHOP'S BANK

A Runaway Horse Charges the Establishment With Little Damage.

Shortly after 1 o'clock, as Teller Tarn McGrew, of Bishop's Bank, was adding up a long column of figures, there was a commotion on Merchant street in the vicinity of the bank, and a brown horse dashed along dragging a two-wheeled cart, which rattled and banged and scattered pedestrians from its path. The brown streak headed direct for the corner doorway of the bank and suddenly stopped with a crash.

The cement sidewalk proved the animal's Waterloo, for he came down with a thud, and the cart hung to a telephone pole by one wheel.

Teller McGrew missed his count and made a dive for the door of his grated cell, thinking that bold, bad robbers had designs on him and the bank's money. The horse made no effort to get further than the doorway of the bank, and suffered himself to be taken into the custody of a police officer.

It appeared that the owner of the animal tied the cayuse to a hitching post with a rope and clasp through which the little fellow could slip his head.

Navy Vessel for Honolulu.

The U. S. T. S. Adams has gone to Honolulu, H. I., for a prolonged stay. It is regarded as essential by the department that a vessel of the navy be stationed at Honolulu for various reasons, and it is probable that when the Adams leaves early in the new year her place will be filled by another ship flying the American flag.—The Army and Navy Journal.
